Implement Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) for Great Treasure International Inc. (GTII)

Bear in mind, Great Treasure International Inc. (GTII) is a holding company include securities, investment, wealth and asset management firms. Here are a few ways for ESG that can implement activities on GTII:

- Integrate ESG criteria into investment decisions - Incorporate environmental, social and governance factors into stock selection, portfolio construction and risk management. According to GTII internal guidelines, GTII can use ESG scoring/ratings from data providers to identify best-in-class companies and avoid laggards.
- Offer ESG-focused mutual funds and ETFs – GTII can launch new funds or ETFs or existing funds that invest in companies aligned with specific ESG themes like clean energy, sustainable water, diversity & inclusion, etc. This gives investors options that align with their values.
- Provide ESG advisory and reporting services – GTII offer clients ESG reporting, ratings, portfolio analysis and strategy advisory services based on their specific sustainability goals. Help them measure and improve their ESG performance over time. As asset managers can engage directly with companies in their portfolios to encourage better disclosure, management and performance on material ESG issues. This can help drive change within individual companies and across sectors.
- Set internal ESG goals and report performance – GTII group (include Securities and asset management companies) can implement their own internal ESG strategies around areas like carbon neutrality, workplace diversity, supply chain sustainability, etc. Then report publicly on progress to demonstrate leadership. For example, GTII can move portfolios away from carbon-intensive or unsustainable industries and toward more climate-aligned sectors. This may involve divesting from certain companies or reallocating capital to low-carbon opportunities.
